Why are so many cancer operated women choosing Yes?

- ✓ Yes is safe for hormone sensitive conditions (no parabens, no grapefruit seed extract, no hormones and no endocrine disruptors)
- ✓ Yes protects, nourishes & moisturises delicate or traumatised intimate tissues
- ✓ Yes is reassuringly realistic and offers discreet lubrication (no colour, smell or stickiness)
- ✓ Yes soothes and calms itching and discomfort
- ✓ Yes is hypoallergenic, free from skin irritants and with natural plant based formulations (no glycerine, no propylene glycol)
- ✓ Yes is suitable for use with dilators when these are part of a recovery program
- ✓ Yes products are registered medical devices with MHRA & certified organic

When cancer treatment has caused the additional distress and discomfort of vaginal dryness, it is vital that the purest possible solution is found.

Yes is a pure and natural intimate moisturiser and lubricant that will promote rather than compromise your vaginal health to restore the comfort and confidence of intimacy after cancer treatment.

Yes products are recommended by Breast & Cancer Care Nurses, Oncologists, Gynaecologists, Psychosexual Therapists, Menopause Experts & GPs

“In my role as a Gynaecology Oncology Clinical Nurse Specialist working with women who are recovering from gynaecological cancers, I am glad to be able to recommend Yes intimate moisturisers and lubricants, confident that they offer my patients a safe and guaranteed pure solution to vaginal dryness and soreness. It is nice to be able to offer a lubricant that is reassuringly free of all skin irritants and hormone disruptors.” Emma Azeem

“After chemotherapy and premature menopause I experienced severe vaginal atrophy for 3 years, I had despaired of finding anything that worked. I guess I have tried almost everything on the UK market. I react to virtually every synthetic ingredient and due to poor immune system regularly experience problems with thrush. No such problems with Yes. Yes oil-based maintains vulval comfort on a daily basis and water-based Yes is the most effective and realistic lubricant I have ever used. Thanks for restoring my sex life and making my daily existence more bearable”.
